A Lively Fight of Fourteen Rounds With Van Heest

The Wisconsin Bantam Knocked Out After a Game Battle.

Burge Now Hunting Another Big Purse Sullivan Makes a Little Speech Just to Show That He is not Crazy.

By Telegraph to The Times. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29 .- [By the Associated Press.] Johnny Van Heest, the Wisconsin bantam, was picked out tonight at odds of 20 to 15 as the prospective winner of the fight with Sol Smith of Los Angeles at the California pective winner of the fight with Soi Smith of Los Angeles at the California Athletic Club. Smith recently fought a draw with George Siddons, who gave Van Heest a good battle, and he had previously disposed of Dan Daly in quick time, so that as a short-ender he was well ilked and freely backed. A $2000 purse and the prospects of a march with Dixon were the inducements that brought the men together.

Peter Jackson entered the hall before the fight commensed and received an enthusiastic reception. In responding he referred to the fact that the California Club had on his arrival in this country championed his cause, and he said that all he asked was that he might finish what he had begun. This was taken by members as an allusion to his famous meeting with Corbett, and a storm of applause greeted his remarks.

Second round—Smith stopped Van Heest with a left jolt on the jaw. Smith's superior height and reach made it difficult for Van Heest to find him, but he uppercut him with his left. Smith rushed and Van slid across the ring on his stomach and nearly off the platform in his efforts to get away. Third round—Van delivered a good left on the jaw and a left and right swing that seen Smith at him like a little fury. Van Heest drove his left in.

Fourth round—Van Heest had an unfortunate fall, the back of his head striking the floor. Smith caught him with a long lead, dropping him, and then stood over him, upper-cutting him as he arose. Van Heest fell again, and the ropes catching his throat, sent him over with a joit. He landed a stiff left in Smith's face and dropped him with a light left counter on the cheek, but Smith thought he had his man on the down grade and would not be stayed.

Fifth round—Van Heest swing his right in desperation. Clinches were frequent and more than once Van went down to the floor, borne down by the left smashes of Smith, who pushed him even through the ropes, falling on him. Referce Jordan had no easy task in keeping the wildcat. Californian within Sixth round—Van Heest found it difficult to land his swings, but got in his right on the ribs as Smith ducked and the control of the contro right on the ribs as Smith uncase and clinched. Van dropped once without being struck and Smith pushed his head to the floor, pinning him down. Van caught him a right smash in the mouth, and the round closed bringing could be to his knees. It was a wild, Smith to his knees. It was a wild, rough and tumble fight with plenty of hard blows intermixed.

Seventh round—Van stopped Smith with a left on the nose, bringing blood. Smith sent him twice to the floor with Smith sent into twice to the noor with back-handed right smashes in the face. Van clinched at Smith's legs to save himself when down. Van countered with his left on Smith's swollen nose, and brought him to his knees with a right swing falling himself. Eighth round - Van's continual dropping to the floor did not please Smith's friends, while Van Heest's adherents hissed Smith for his apparent desire to throw Van whenever the men came together. A series of good counters, with honors about even, filled this round this round.

Ninth round-The men were tired and the only blow struck was a right-hander on the ear by Smith. Tenth round-Little was done.

Tenth round—Little was done. Eleventh round—This was also quiet. Twelfth round—Van Heest started the ball with a left-hander, and immediately the ring was a scene of fixing hands and legs, as Smith rushed in and bore Van to the floor, repeatedly falling on him and taking apparently every unfair advantage, until every man in the hall was yelling like a madman "foul!" 'foul!" The referee refused to allow the claim.

Naw York, Der. 20.—The enthusiastic audience which filled the Windsor Theater, where Join L. Sullivan is playing, was treated to a stirring speech by the ex-champion tonight. The conquered champion said he had not the remotest idea of fighting Corbett again. Sullivan said also that the allegations he made against his backers were based on sound facts, So far as the report was concerned that he was crazy, it was all bosh, as his personal appearance and speech could prove.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 29.—[By the Asso ciated Press. As the time for the opening of the Legislature draws near, the city is rapidly filling with office seekers who want everything in sight, from keeper of gates to sergeant-at-

Local members are constantly besieged with place-hunters, and scores upon scores of small boys, generally ac-companied by fond mammas, are asking for positions as pages. Several Sena-tors and Assemblymen have already reached the city, and are being impor-

Printers from all points in the State Printers from all points in the State imagine that there will also be fat places for them in the State printing office during the session, and notwithstanding the fact that the city is already filled with idle compositors, printers are fairly flocking into town in droves. Besides this, Superintendent of Printing Johnston is in receipt of a dozen telegrams asking for "sits," and his mail is also freighted with applications. There is no need of more printtions. There is no need of more print tions. There is no need of more printers coming to Sacramento, for they will surely meet with disappointment if they do. There will be no work for them. THE WORK OF TRAMPS

Railway Depot Burned—The Charred Remains of a Woman in the Ruins.
Sacramento, Dec. 29.—[By the Associated Press.] About 4 o'clock this morning the Southern Pacific Railroad depot at Brighton Junction, five miles southeast of this city, was discovered on fire, and, being built of inflammable material, it was soon totally destroyed. Residents of the place soon after began searching the rulns and found the remains of Miss E. O. Ayers, who resided in the building, and who has been em-ployed for the past two years as oper-ator and station agent. Nothing but the badly charred trunk remained:

the badly charred trunk remained.
Some people believed that the woman, who was 35 years of age, had become despondent and committed suicide. The railroad detectives, however, are firmly convinced that Miss Ayers was murdered by tramps for the money which she was supposed to have about the station. Three tramps were lounging about the station yesterday, and late in the afternoon she ordered them away. It is believed they returned during the night and murdered her, and then fired the building to conceal the crime. The dead woman's mother resides in Stanton, Neb.

There are no new developments up to There are no new developments up to 10 o'clock tonight, and it is not likely there will be until Railroad Detective fortable, with the wind blowing a stiff northwest gale. It is supposed her machinery was disabled and she was lying to, making repairs. The next morning the Gallileo passed two east bound steamers which would render any assistance if needed. Capt. Jones says there need be no alarm in regard to her safety.

Loving Dec. 39 — As the bours there may no whose trail the officers where no whose trail the officers where the safety. Burke overtakes two men who traded while no doubt about her murder by these men on whose trail the officers now are. The pay car passed Folsom about 6 o'clock this morning and the men could have walked there and jumped on the trucks and ridden to Latrobe. A fraight twist also made atrobe. A freight train also passed Brighton just before the station was burned. The woman may have been murdered several hours before the fire murdered several nours before the fire occurred, and the latter may have been caused by the deceased's dog upsetting the lamp after the murderers were well on their way.

Another thing that bears out the theory of murder is that the lock of the door leading from Miss Ayres's room out upon the platform has been found, and the bolt was turned back, showing that the door was turned back, snowing that the door was not locked. Coroner Clark, however, holds to the suicide theory, based on a love affair. At pres-ent the whole thing is a mystery.

Millions of Corruption Money Used in the United States.

A Vain Attempt to Get Gen. Grant into the Scheme

De Lesseps on a Boodling Expedition America - Money Flowed Like Water to Influence Public Sentiment.

By Telegraph to The Times.

New York, Dec. 29.—[By the Associated Press.] In a three-column article this morning the World alleges that the Panama Canal corruptionists and thieves expended over two million dollars in bribing American legislators. In part the article says: In part the article says:

There is an American end to the Panama scandal. Two million five hundred thousand dolars was sent to this country and no explanation has been given of what use was necessary or made of this vast sum. The bribery and corruption practiced in the United States were just as faggrant, although less in extent and in amount of money used. French speculators obtained their rights from the United States of Colombia, and purchased the services of Ferdinand de Lesseps to give their scheme cold. The farce of the "Canal Congress," which met at Paris May 15, 1879, was enacted, and in the face of intelligent opposition a packed committee on selection of locality chose the Panama route from sea to sea.

Soon after the Paris "Canal Congress" Gen. E. A. Burnside, Senator from Rhode sland, introduced a resolution on the subject in Congress. It read:

"That the United States views with seri-island, introduced a resolution on the subject in Congress. It read:

"That the United States riews with serious disquietude any attempt by the powers of Europe to establish under their protection and domination a ship canal across the Ishmus of Panama."

Gen. Burnside in private conversation with friends indicated that he had forseen that an attempt would be made to influence Congress and, he stated that he introduced the anti-canal notice with the intention of anticipating any work its promoters might attempt at Washington.

The article then reviews the history

The article then reviews the history of the canal with President Hayes's message declaring that the canal could be built only with the United States preponderating in influence. The ar-preponderating in influence. The article continues:

De Lesseps and other Frenchmen were then here. It was a staggerer for them, but De Lesseps cabled his son Charles to give to the Paris newspapers the statement that this message assured the political security of the canal. To confirm this idea in France he had an American committee appointed to look after the neutrality question in connection with the canal and to make Americans feel that their interests were being served. The American committee was not disposed to work for nothing, and De Lesseps agreed to make, when the company was organized, six annual payments to this American committee. The first was to be f.3, 100,000, the year following f.1,400,000, and subsequent payments to be f.1,500,000 a year for five years.

Thus was about $2,500,000 provided by the head of the Panama Canal scheme to influence the people of the United States and their Government. Here was a corruption fund capable of accomplishing great results. The organization of the committee was negotiated by New York bankers.

tion fund capable of accomplishing great results. The organization of the committee was negotiated by New York bankers. The purpose was to secure for chairman a distinguished American, whose name would inspire confidence and lend luster to the Panama project. The first chairman suggested was Gen. U. S. Grant. The position was tendered the distinguished citizen through the banking house of G. W. Seligman & Co., the annual compensation offered being $25,000 and the General was assured that the duties would be light. Gen. Grant saw through the intentions of the committee and declined.

Continuing, the article says: Certain public officials in the American committee received $25,000 a year for their services. The corruption which fol-lowed the organization of the American committee and the income of, hard-earned committee and the income of hard-earned money of French subscribers to the canal company is still fondly remembered at Washington by those who received some of the boodle. Certain newspapers in New York received a liberal subsidy to favor the canal. Two Congressmen were bribed and individuals who possessed influence were bribed. The money of the French peasantry ran like water at the national capital.

An article in the Financial News of Lon-capital.

An article in the Financial News of London described the situation as follows:

"The American syndicate is one of the most shameful corruption funds ever recorded in the history of financial enterprises. Imagine and expenditure of $480,000 so that a few men in New York might represent the company in America and cooperate with if when requested. To that fund is due the success which attended De Lessep's invitation to the Secretary, of the Navy of the United States to accept the presidency of the syndicate, and no respectable bankers should ever have participated in that costly fraud upon the shareholders of the Panama Canal Company: These men are challenged to show that they ever did anything for the company except to lend their names, so that in Europe De Lesseps might say, 'America is all right.'"

The attitude of Congress was decidedly unifriendly when the committee was formed and the press was then quite generally adverse to the canal under French control. A change soon occurred. When De Lesseps returned to France he announced that the United States favored his project. He

A PLUM FOR THE TREASURY

Millions of Currency Which It Will Never Have to Redeem WASHINGTON, Dec. 29 .- [By the Associated Press.] In all that has recently been written about the depleted condition of the United States Treasury, lit-tle or no account has been taken of the fact that, with each passing year, the treasury is a large gainer by the complete destruction by casualty of its out-standing obligations. How much this amounts to the best statisticians of the Treasury Department have no means of definitely ascertaining. No two figures are alike. Since 1862, when the Government began the issue of paper money, $5.819,629,108 was issued up to July 1, 1892. Within the same period $4.852,451,629 was redeemed, leaving outstanding on July 1, 1892, as a liability against the Government $967,177,479. In an exhaustive inquiry on the subject made, by United Street Treasury Department have no means of 177,479. In an exhaustive inquiry on the subject made by United States Treasurer Hyatt, it is estimated that the aggregate loss on all issues up to January, 1888, would not be less than January, 1888, would not be less than $8,700,000. The estimate did not include fractional currency, 50-cent, 25-clude fractional currency, 50-cent, 25-cent, 10-cent and 5-cent "shin plasters," in such extensive circulationa few years following the war.

United States Treasurer Nebecker, in his report this year, states that more than $15,000.000 of this fractional reurency is outstanding, though it has practically gone out of circulation and but little more than few theread do! t little more than four thousand dollars was presented for redemption last year. That outstanding is held to a great extent by collectors of coin, and list value as such is greater than its face value. The aggregate United States currency, fractional and otherwise, estimated to have been deestimated to have been de stroyed and not likely to be presented for redemption, approximates by these figures at more than $14,000,000. The recent estimate prepared in the Treasury Department places the sum as high as $20,000,000. Williams, the Burglar, Examined on Another Charge of Robbery.

Held to Answer in $10,000 Ball-A Couple of Tough Youths Disposed of by Justice Owens-Petty Offenders.

Yesterday afternoon C. R. Mills, manager of the Fidelity Mutual A id Insurance Company, swore to a complaint in Justice Owens's department of the Police Court, charging J. W. Wilson with embezzlement.

Mr. Mills came down from San Francisco a few days ago to look after the company's agents in Southern California. He soon discovered that not only Wilson, but one or two agents, have been using his company's money for their own use. He asked Wilson for a settlement, but that gentleman paid no attention to the mild question, on Mr. Wills, walked into the Police paid no attention to the mild question, so Mr. Mills walked into the Police Court and swore to a complaint charging him with the embezzlement of $50. A warrant was issued and an officer was sent out to look the young man up, but up to a late hour last evening he had not been arrested.

The insurance companies have had considerable trouble with their agents down this way of late, but it is their own fault, for whenever they do get a good case, through the efforts of the detectives, they compromise the case as soon as the friends or relatives of the criminal step up and refund the stolen money. If they would prosecute a few of these cases an end would soon be put to insurance embezzlement. put to insurance embezzlement.

Robert Williams, the bold burglar who went through so many houses in the southwestern portion of the city a few months ago and gathered in jewelry and bric-a-brac enough to set up a jewelry store, was before Police Justice Owens on another charge yesterday morning, and was held for trial, with bail fixed at $10,000.

Williams was sentenced a few days ago to five years in State's prison on the first charge, and the case yesterday was the second charge. There are forty-three more cases against him and if he is given five years on each he will spend 225 years in State's prison, if he can manage to exist that long.

In grain farming we show all the unique features of the great West, with fields ranging from five hundred to ten thousand acres in extent, cultivated with gang plows and harvested with the most improved machinery. But even in this we do not take especial pride, for we feel that this great area devoted to the production of a single crop of wheat or barley in a year, and for the most part lying in a desolate and semi-barren state, does not tend to the building up of a prosperous populaleast, grain farming falls in the same category as sheep-herding, and both industries, together with the soul of John Brown, are "marching on."

If the farmer from the other side of the Rocky Mountains comes here with the desire to settle on a place of moder ate dimensions and pursue his calling in about the same way that he did back home," we can accomin him to a dot. He has but to seek a location in some of the moist valleys, like El Monte, Downey, Artesia, West minster, the Cienega or the valley of Los Angeles River; and he may there produce corn, pumpkins, potatoes, beans, hay and all the staples ga Many of these lands are moist enough to raise such products without irrigation, and insure a certain There are lands lying a little higher and dryer which may be farmed n these staples by the aid of irrigation when like satisfactory results may be btained. But it is not in this sort of farming even that California agricultare finds its highest development.

The unique feature, the most charm ing and most profitable feature, is found in horticulture. And this is the indus-ary which is most generally discussed. California is the one State in the Union where the natural tendency of population to drift from country to city is reversed. It is one of our most reassuring tendencies. Here, not only do our cities spread out to an unwonted extent, to allow each householder his garden and each suburban resident his half-acre or so, but many city people actually move out into the country and establish themselves on fruit farms Horticultural development is different from any other in the line of farm It tends to small subdivisions ing. of land, to compact settlement, to the establishment of cosy and delightful homes, and to securing a larger share of the advantages of city life, and many that cannot be obtained in a city. The resident of one of our prosperou horticultural settlements has water piped into his house, and sometimes gas. The butcher, the baker and the grocer call at his kitchen door daily and so does the vegetable peddler. His children attend a first-class school within easy walking distance, and the church is not far off. He has neighbors of the most congenial, intellectual and refined sort all around him. He has society, access to a public library, and all the intellectual life he desires. In many cases he has his morning paper at his breakfast table with his coffee. Such advantages as these are not to be secured in the rural life of any other country that we know of, and it is little wonder that these attractions, supple menting the charm of sitting under one's one vine and fig tree and plucking oranges from his own grove, should attract the city-bred man, as well as the California country life, says: The field proves inviting to people of all classes and conditions. The young man just starting out to make his way man just starting out to make his way in the world cultivates his trees and vines alongside the farm of the superannuated minister, or the retired merchant or banker; and across the way is the place of a lady who quit school-teaching because she tired of its drudgery. Many well-to-do men who continue in business or professional practice in town, have their villas in the suburbs, or their country homes of easy suburbs, or their country homes of easy access, where they cultivate their own fruits and help supply the markets. And if long-time residents are thus drawn away from the city, attracted by pleasure of horticulture in this semitropical climate, what wonder that many who come from the snow-bound East and North are captivated and im-East and North are captivated and im-pelled in the same direction. Horticult-ure must continue as it has begun, an industry suited to the most intelligent and refined people. It is better adapted to small farms than large. It produces etter results under the eye and hand of the master than when delegated to of the master than when delegated to hired labor. As it requires both skill and industry, it gives healthful occupa-tion to the mind as well as the body. While the growing of an orchard in-volves something of an investment, sup-plemented by several years of waiting, and no small amount of labor and care, the reward at last is ample. the reward at last is ample.

The meterial returns of fruit-farming are no less enticing than the esthetic features. Many a man in Southern California makes a good living for himself and family and has something to lay aside from the product of ten acres in orchard.

THE Herald vesterday morning printed statement to the effect that forty nembers of the police force are circu lating petitions among citizens asking that Chief Glass be retained in his pres ent position. Mr. Glass is authority for the statement that there is not a word of truth in the charge. For police officers to circulate such a petition would be a violation of the rules of the department which would not be toler ated for an instant by either the Chief or the commission, and Mr. Glass states that if the name of a single officer can be found who has been guilty of this breach of discipline he will be at once suspended and the case laid before the Commissioners. As a matter of fact, there are petitions in tion for the retention of Chief Glass in the position which be has so ably filled, but they were prepared and are being circulated by reputable citizens and taxpavers who are in no way connected with the police department, but who desire, in the interest of good government, to see the present police administration continued. The Democratic organ, to make a little capital against Chief Glass, has gone outside the line of truth, and it should have the fairness growing on scientific methods, Califor- to make the proper amende.

The Important Land Decision. It is the purpose of THE TIMES to re print, as soon as practicable, from an authorized copy, the recent highly im-portant decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of "The United States, appellant, vs. The Southern Pacific Railroad Company and others," decided on appeals Circuit Court of the United States for the Southern District of California

The interest in this great case is so widespread and general among not only land-owners and land-seekers, but among lawyers and others, that tion or the real development of the country. In Southern California, at full, and will be able to supply all calls for the paper containing the document.

It has just been learned that still anthe Supreme Court in these California land cases. A dispatch from Joseph H. Ir we are to believe Ambrose Bierce and the Oakland Times, the aforesaid Ambrose Bierce is about the only man this side of sun-up, or anywhere else that knows a cussed thing on earth about poetry, poets or poesy. At pres ent, as has been observed previously in these columns, Mr. Bierce is chewing the ear off of Jim Riley and kindly spit ting out the pieces. It is real kind of him not to swallow them. At the same time, we will venture to add that Mr Riley's admirers, of whom the woods are full, are entitled, under the laws of the United States to have their oninon as to what constitutes poetry, and that there is not a rule in the whole looming output of legal lore which compels anybody to think as the Oak land Times and Mr. Bierce think. "And the goble'uns 'll git 'em if they don't watch out.".

THE National American Woman Suf frage Association has let loose with a pronunciamento. One of its feat res is:

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

County Division.

ARROWHEAD SPRINGS, Dec. 2,9 1892.

[To the Editor of The Times.] I have b fore me your issue of the 11th containing the proceedings of the "Pomona County" Eivision Convention. Were I not interested in the territory proposed to be up" by the movement, I would have nothing to say. I am fully satisfied it is of no benefit except to the town of Pomona and to a new swarm of county officers at the increased expense of the outlying districts. Every condition affecting Asusa and Glendora (in which I am interested) belongs to Los Angeles city and county. The lay of the land at the head of the valley, and the flow of the San Gabriel are toward Los Angeles. The electric power lying dormant in the mountain regions of the San Gabriel River, only waiting to be set in motion by capital, will move ten thousand wheels in future in the natural incline toward Los Angeles. Imagine these two points in said convention, the former with elseven votes, the latter with nine, battling to be "left out" against Pomona with her thirtyseven: It is reported that "the best of feeling prevailed." I presume the same good feeling experienced by the shark when swallowed by the whale. Two efforts were made to locate the new county seat at Ontario, but they were immediately "cruled out of order" by the same 37 against 13, which ora (in which I am interested) be they were immediately "ruled out of order" by the same 37 against 13, which further indicates the real object. A gentleman from Pomona had investigated as to expense of running large and small counties and found the former $1.07 against 88 cents for the latter. This logic works well to assist in Improving values in Pomona by the divisor, but it don't held good in actual dollars in paying taxes.
For instance: I own a tract of land along the county line between Orange and Los Angeles counties. The taxes for this year were $43.50 on the 150 agrees in Orange, as against $21.25 for the 150 in Los Angeles—exactly the same kind of land and improvements.

as against $21.25 for the 150 th Los Angeles—exactly the same kind of land and improvements.

It does not require the judgment of more than a 10. year-old boy to know that when a portion of this county (like Orange,) or any other part which attempts to set up a full county government, the expense will be much greater. It may not be for the first few years, when courts are held in outlying, abandoned stores, and when other economic reform moves are made by the "new county seat." but not when the indispensable public buildings, roads, bridges, and all the necessary machinery is set in full motion. The fact is this old boom fever still lurks with us, and this new county craze is one of the many ways to build up even a town at the expense of the surrounding county. If you are a witness or a juror in court now you are paid to go to Los Angeles; if to record a deed, it costs only 2 cents by mail.

I will be on hand at Sacramento to oppose this boom to Pomona unless Azusa and Glendora are left out, and I hope the two latter points will have delegates there for the same purpose.

There may be an element of excite neat in stalking royal Bengal tigers in their native jungles, or pursuing the vory tusked elephants in the sacred preserves of the Ahkoond of Swat, but for exhilerating sport, Lighly spiced with danger and possessing some other merits worthy of consideration, hunting mountain lions within the city limits of Los Angeles stands preëminent. G. J. It was this that prompted him to charter a tally-ho coach and invite a to charter a tally-ho coach and invite a party of eager spectators to accompany a squad of mounted huntsmen, with guns and dogs, on an expedition. Shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning the tally-ho party left the Broadway stable and went direct to the park by way of College street. It was arranged that these hunters It was arranged that these hunters were to penetrate the gullies, traverse the ridges, poke up the chaparral and run the lions down into the road, where the waiting party would despatch them with their deadly weapons, or by running the tally-ho overthem. Of course, as the coach could not be taken up the ridges to where the lions were, the latter must be brought down to the coach. This was the plan of battle.

This was the plan of battle.

The progress was necessarily slow. The baying of the deep-voiced hounds, echoing from hill to hill; the occasional report of a firearm discharged vainly at a coyote or a thrush, were heard from the steep slopes of the hills, which there approach the dignity of mountains, and the sounds were answered by cries and tootings from the tally-ho horn. Two coyotes had the distinction of serving as long-distance targets, but they yet live to tell the tale. One frisky youth, with a nose for robins, winged a poor little one, and in trying to retrieve it nearly broke his neck. He had previously distinguished himself to retrieve it nearly broke his neck.

But the visitors did justice to that dinner—roast pig, hot biscuits, delicious butter, olives, preserves, pie, coffee and all. After dinner the search for lions began again, but no success was met with until the expedition was on its way back to the city. It was Mr. Haskell who saved the party the humiliation of failure, for he shot and killed a big wildcat, and brought it in triumph home. HAMLIN GARLAND.

An Entertaining Talk Last Evening of Howells and James.
A large audience assembled at Unity last night to hear Hamlin Gar land talk about the two great American novelists, W. D. Howells and Henry

He began his lecture by tracing the development of the American novel, be-ginning with the period of the civil war. The ideal novel, he holds, is the modern American novel which is not patho logical and does not deal with the morbid, diseased brain, but rather with the sunny, the intimate, the physiological.

The one almost universal objection to Howells is that he does not deal with the deep and tragical emotions in human life. Commenting on this, Mr. Garland said: "That is his individuality.

He takes a thoughtful view of life You can't go racing through his books or skate over his sketches. He refuse or skate over his sketches. He refuses to illuminate his pages with sign-boards saying 'At this point become deeply moved.' Talking with him once of his book 'April Hopes,' he said to me: 'I wanted to show just how an ordinary courtship proceeds; 'that very often nature cries out against a union that society thinks perfect.' Women say. ciety thinks perfect.' Women say 'Howells belittles us so.' Well, I think Howells belittles us so. it is about time we had real fles blood women in romance, instead melting, sentimental heroines blood women in romance, instead of the melting, sentimental heroines that Spencer, Victor Hugo, Shakespeare and Scott have given us. Women have been so accustomed to this sort of melting sentimentalism that when a man comes sentimentalism that when a man comes along and treats them as fellow-men, deals with them with fidelity and dispassionate methods, as with men, they cry out 'Oh, ne belittles us so.' "
Mr. Garland proceeded to cleverly dissect some of Howells's master studies and dished them up in appreciative bits to the audience. "Some people." he to the audience. "Some people," he said, "have called Howells a monumen tal failure, but I do not think a ma who earns $20,000 a year'by his pen can be classed as such. Every librarian in every city or town will tell you that there are from fifty to a hundred people who frequent the library denominated the Howells and James crowd, and you will find them to be the intellectual year. will find them to be the intellectual per will find them to be the intellectual people of the city, too. We are small, but exceedingly self-sufficient. [Laughter.]

"Seventy-five years from now, when the sheaf of Howells's novels is bound, we will have the most frithful and important study of this day and time made by any man. What a commentary on our life—its humor and its pathos, its exceeded habits and its customs—it will It is the trifles which throw the be. It is the trilles which throw the most vivid sidelights on life. Shakes-peare's characters are great, imper-sonal characters—they stalk and glower when they walk. He gives us nothing of the real, human doings of those times—how people really lived, and talked, and walked, and ate, and dressed in everyday life."

Mr. Garland spoke only briefly of Henry James, as one who at times floats Henry James, as one who at times noats us away into a great, void, empty intellectual world. He lacks the sunshine and humor of Howells, but he is a consummate artist at his best and holds to American ideals.

He closed his lecture of one hour and a half with an earnest appeal for genu-ine realism as against affectism.

This evening Mr. Garland will give his final lecture and will talk about George W. Cable, Joel Chandler Harris, Mary E. Wilkins and E. W. Howes.

AN ERMINE SHOULDER CAPE

Special Correspondence of The Times.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—Just think, a season or so ago any dealer would have been glad to sell us an ermine cloak "cheap," and-here is the bitternesswe had not sense enough to get one! A little while ago nothing could have coaxed us to wear ermine. It was so old-fashioned and suggested little girls' muffs and tippets lined with blue silk and sold in sets for Christmas. But now it is with blue silk and sold in sets for Christmas. But now it is quite another matter, Of course, if you can do no better you can have a cloth cloak trimmed with ermine. A mere collar will lend distinction. You are better off and more envied if your are better off and more envied it your collar is quite deep, even a sort of ruffie or very narrow cape that hangs full, or for that matter, that hangs plain, so long as it is ermine. Better luck still permits a shoulder cape, and one's ambition staggers and refuses to go further than the correct cape that hangs almost to cover the hands, that has a stand-up collar shoulders lifted a little. stand-up collar, shoulders lifted a little, and that is all ermine. The inside shows quilted satin, and you may have any color you like, but white is prefer-able. Such cloaks are only for evening, you know. That is one reason it is so swell to have one, and then they are so expensive. Such a shoulder cape sets off well the head of regal carriage, and the dependent, child-like face. If you are a delicate blonde wear it for the latare a delicate blonde wear it for the in-ter effect; if your style is the queenly, wear it that way. Whatever you do, save for your granddaughter. Think what your grandmother might have saved for you. Dalphine.

THE COURTS.

Two Supreme Court Opinions Received for Filing.

The Decisions of the Lower Courts Sustained in Each Case.

A New Information Filed Against Young Claude Hill.

Judgment for the Defendant in the Pla ita Mining Case Another Di-Court Notes.

The decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Mary E. Haynes (respond-ent) vs. Peter Backman et al. (defend-ants) and the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company (appellant,) were re-ceived by Deputy Clerk Ashmore yesterday for filing in this city. They were accompanied by the following opinions: The first case is an appeal by a purchaser at a sale under a foreclosure of mortgage, from an order setting aside the sale.

From the affidavits used on the motion the court below may have believed the following to be the facts in reference to the sale:

The amount found due on the mortgage, including costs, was about $1800. That the land was worth that sum. That plaintiff had instructed her attorney to attend the sale and in case no one bid more or an equal sum, to bid for her the amount of the judgment and costs. That one of her attorneys, Cochran, was intending to carry out this instruction, and informed the deputy sheriff, who had the matter in charge, of that fact and instructed the this instruction, and informed the dep-uty sheriff, who had the matter in charge, of that fact and instructed the deputy, in view of the fact that the sale was fixed for Monday, which was law day, when he might be busy in court, that in case he was not present to bid for his client the amount due on the judgment.

That the purchaser, or its agent, was That the purchaser, or its agent, was well aware of plaintiff's intention to bid the full amount of the judgment; that defendant, who joins in the motion, inquired of plaintiff's attorney as to his intention with reference to the sale, and on being informed that he would bid the amount of the judgment and that there would be no judgment for deficiency, relying upon the promise, made no effort to have the property bring a larger sum, being satisfied if the property should pay the debt; that the sale was advertised for October 19, 1891, at 12 m.; that on that morning Cochran was actually eugaged in the argument of a demurrer, and was delayed by this business a few moments after 12 o'clock, but self hurried to the place of sale, expecting to be in time.

after 12 o'clock, but still hurried to the place of sale, expecting to be in time, but although he arrived within twenty minutes after 12 the property had been struck off to appellant for $500 and the amount paid to the Sheriff.

On the same day an order to show cause on the next day why the sale should not be set aside, was obtained, and served on the purchaser. On the hearing, which by consent was adjourned for five days, the order appealed from was made. It also appeared that plaintiff would be unable to collect any deficiency from defendant. Some of these facts were controverted, but it devolves upon appellant to show error. Unless, therefore, we can plainly see that the conclusion reached by the Court, from the affidavits, was erroneous, we cannot interfore with the discretion.

vits, was erroneous, we cannot inter-fere with its discretion.

rere with its discretion.

It is true it has been held that mere inadequacy of price will not justify a court in setting aside a sale where all the proceedings are regular and free from fraud or mistake. Still in numerous cases upon this subject, that fact figures as an important factor. Here the attorney had left with the deputy sheriff his bid. Such course is not unsual, and if the deputy was unwilling to accept the bid in that form he ought to have informed the attorney of that fact, in which case, very likely, knowing that he might be detained, he would have had some person present to bid for him.

have had some person present to bid for him.

Setting aside the sale so promptly will harm no one except a purchaser who insists upon an unfair advantage obtained by this excusable neglect on the part of the plaintiff's attorney, while the client will be irreparably injured if the sale is allowed to stand. Greater delinquency has been found excusable by the court in many cases. (Buell vs. Emerick, 85 Cal., 116; Stonesifer vs. Kilburn, 94 Cal., 33.

As said in Buell vs. Emerick, supra, very great discretion is conceded to the trial court in regard to these matters, in the interest of justice. We cannot say that such discretion has been abused in this case.

in this case. We therefore advise that the order appealed from be affirmed. The second case is an appeal from the judgment, without a bill of excep-

Two points are made—first, the appellant purchased from the mortgage, a strip of land, part of the mortgaged premises, for a right-of-way. In its answer, appellant asked to have the land divided and sold in parcels, the division to be as divided by the railroad. rision to be as divided by the railroad, and that the strip occupied by the appellant should be sold only in case sufficient money could not be realized for the residue to pay the mortgage. This was not done.

There being no bill of exceptions, and no findings, we do not know that the appellant acquired title to the strip of appellant acquired title to the strip of land by conveyance from the mortgagor after the mortgage was given, or that a sale in separate parcels can be had to advantage, or without danger of depreciating the price which might be realized to the extent of preventing plaintiff from fealizing the amount of her mortgage. These were questions to be determined by the evidence, and on the appeal upon the judgment roll alone, we cannot review the action of the court.

second—The appellant was not named in the court.

Second—The appellant was not named in the complaint as a defendant, but the Los Angeles, Pasadena and Glendale Railway Company was. The judgment is not against the last-named company but against appellant. The judgment is not against the last-named company, but against appellant. The complaint was not amended so as to include the appellant. It is contended that the judgment is irregular under the rule laid down in McKinley vs. Tuttle (§2 Cal., 570.) and Campbell vs. Adams (50 Cal., 203.)

Though not named as a party, appellant appeared and filed an answer, in which it is stated: "Comes the Los lant appeared and filed an answer, in which it is stated: "Comes the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company. Corporation duly organized under the laws of this .State, and leave of the court having first been obtained to appear and defend said action," etc. The answer then proceeds to aver a sale and conveyance of a portion of the mortgaged premises by the mortgager, after the execution of the mortgage, to the other corporation named in the answer; that subsequent to that conveyance the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company had consolidated with the other-named corporation under the name of the Los Angeles Terminal Railway Company. The judgment recites that appellant Dr. L E Ford, 18 South Spring Dr. L E Ford, 18 South Spring.

"has been duly made a party defendant to this action by order of the court." Evidently this means that appellant was made a party as successor in interest to the other-named defendant. As a matter of fact, the answer, if true, shows the identity of appellant with the corporation defendant named. There is no injurious error in this. The judgment should be aftirmed.

KOCH'S DISCOVERY.

A remedy discovered that is of far greater efficacy than the noted lymph.

The tubercle bacilli were discovered by Prof. Koch, to be constantly present in all cases of consumption. Where the blood is impoverished or impure, there results that constitutional condition known as scrofula, which is characterized by the liability of certain tissues to become the seat of chronic inflainmations and enlargements. These troubles may start as catarrh in the meablranes become weakened, the tubercle baccilli enter, and multiply, and we have, as a result, that dread disease—Consumption. Find a perfect remedy for scrofula, in all its forms—something that purifies the blood, as well as claims to. That, if it's taken in time, will cure Consumption. It has been found in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. As a strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-builder, nothing like it is known to medical science. For Scrofula, Bronchia, Throat, and Lung affections, Weak Lungs, severe Coughs, and kindred ailments, it's the only remedy so sure that it can be quaranteed. If it desen't benefit or cure, your money is refunded.

VERY day in the year a new advertisement appears in this paper inviting you to read and think over what we may offer for your consideration. Over half a million copies each year are thrown broadcast for seed to spring from. Newspaper men say that each paper averages five readers. This makes over two and a half million readers of our advertisement for the year, and yet all this only represents one-thirtieth of Jay Gould's wealth when he died. It makes a big business look small to think of this. Yet this is the largest dry goods house in the City of the Angels, and growing larger at the end of each month. Consider well what we have to say and do. What do you think of the many improvements made in this house the past year? Perhaps you will become interested and we will be able to number you among our patrons, The trade has not only largely increased, but the class of trade has been greatly improved. We do not cater for the finest or the cheapest trade; but the larger medium class. They are the great purchasing class-the buyers of dry goods, The Linen Department asks for your favorable consideration. Linens from Ireland, from Germany, from the linent countries of the Old World. They are sold to you at a reasonable profit and the stock is the most desirable. The only Linen Room on this side of the great divide. More progressive than some of our big cities. Have you seem the Big Linen Room? The wonderful increase in the business of this year shows that new ideas and the liberal advertising has had a wonderful effect. Doing business without advertising is like eating raw potatoes. The Big Cloak Department—Cloaks $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00. $4.50, $5.00. Better ones still higher. Prices range from $2.50 up to $75.00, and the assortment is very large. Dress Goods, as well as Cloaks and Linens, has shown a big increase over former years. Growing more rapidly today than ever. The result of the Prize Doll contest will appear next Sunday. All the little tots will be interested.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 29, 1892.
Trade in dried fruits continues good in this city. San Francisco and the East.
Prices, as a rule, are remunerative to the grower and, while not as high as they have been known to be, are far above those last year. A steady demand is reported in all the leading markets.

The visible supply of grain, as compiled by the New York Produce Exchange, up to December 27, is as follows:

Money, Stocks and Bonds. New YORK, Dec. 29,—The temper of speculation in stocks today was decidedly bullish from start to finish. Prices ad-Ballish from starts to finish. Prices advanced right through the list, and, in many instances, the improvement was quite pronounced. The bears attempted to check the upward movement by attacking Northern Pacific preferred, but as firms who have been carrying large amounts of that stock liquidated yesterday, they made liftle impression on prices. The lowest quotation touched was 44%, and a rapid advance of 2 points ensued. Manhattan and the coal stocks were prominent, advancing 5% points. There were indications that the shorts, in Union Pacific were becoming alarmed, and that insiders are taking hold for a rise on the expectation that Congress starmed, and that insiders are taking hold for a rise on the expectation that Congress will legislate in favor of the company after he holidays. Ease in money and the systems put upon the talk about gold shipments by the decline in stering exchange and a beneficial effect. The close was drappy at a advance.

More Money Needed-Notes Concerning e Coming Tournament - People Coming and Going - Local Notes and Personals.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton parlors to take definite action on the matter of the proposed painting for the World's Fair. The attendance was not as large as it should have been, but it was proposed manufactors and proposed proposed proposed. large as it should have been, but it was composed mainly of generous, public-spirited citizens, who manifested their faith in the project by contributing liberally to the subscription list. As a result, half of the money needed for the painting is subscribed, the space is engaged and Pasadena is assured of having a great advertisement at the Columbian Exposition.

H. H. Gross of Chicago, a gentlemen of

H. H. Gross of Chicago, a gentlemen of national reputation, to whom the State missioners delegated supreme control of the three paintings, was present and explained more fully the details of the matter. The dimensions of the painting will be 18x30 feet and it will cost $1500. Will be 18230 feet and it will cost $4300.

It did not take those present long to manifest their approval of the scheme, as is evdenced by the following subscriptions, which were promptly made:

This leaves a balance of $780 to be provided. It is now in order for other citizens to promptly make up the deficiency. The thing is now a go, and as its advisability is a constant of the provided enterties to provide enterties to prov thing is now a go, and as its advisaonity is beyond question it will simply be an act of courtesy on the part of those who were not able to attend yesterday's meeting to come to time with whatever contributions their means will warrant. It is proposed after the World's Fair to exhibit the painting at the World's Fair to exhibit the painting at various interstate fairs throughout the country and thus vastly enhance its value as an advertisement. The subscribers will own the picture and can devote it to whatever purpose they may think best. It will also rest with them to state from what point the picture shall be painted and exactly the extent of territory it shall include.

It is only right in this connection to give to W. H. Hill the credit that is justly his due. For six months past Mr. Hill has been untiring in his efforts to interest people in this project that has ended so auspiciously, and the success that has been attained is largely due to this gentleman's individual and unselfish efforts in the mater which is certain to prove of vast benear ter, which is certain to prove of vast ben efit to the entire community. THE COMING TOURNAMENT.

As the time for holding theT ournament of Roses approaches, interest in the affair is becoming more general. Everybody is taking a hand in getting things in readiness for the gala occasion, and clear weather on Monday is all that is necessary to insure for Pasadena the greatest fête day in her history.

to insure for Pasadena the greatest fete day in her history.
Unusual interest is being taken in the parade of decorated teams, which will attract the finest lot of turnouts ever seen together in this section, and all of them gorgeously decorated with flowers. Capt. Dunham will pilot a merry party from the La Cañada Valley in a profusely decorated wagon, drawn by six horses. The Carlton guests will be out in another six-in-hand, and it is certain that they will not be behind in the decorations. Thad Lowe has engaged Mr. Morgan's new tally-ho, which will be drawn by four spanking steeds, respiendent in brand-new trappings. This will undoubtedly be one of the most fetching turnouts in the procession. A party of Raymond guests will ride in one of the coaches of this famous hostelry, and the members of the Columbia Tennis Club will occupy another rig drawn by six horses. members of the Columbia Tennis Club will occupy another rig drawn by six horses. A feature of the procession will be the fire department, which will be out in full force. Then there will be a burro train of some thirty or forty animals, decorated pony teams, lady riders wearing bifurcated skirts, and gentlemen riders on prancing steeds, to say nothing of a number of more modest vehicles, whose decorations will claim their share of attention.

One of the most exciting events down on the programme at the park will be the two-mile steeplechase. Among the horses entered are T. Tyler's famous Lady Washington, Mr. Simon's well-known runner and a speedy animal belonging to Miss Dobbins. The course is laid out in a way that will insure plenty of excitement, and the race will be for blood from start to finish.

ish. A member of the Hunt Club, under whose auspices the tournament will be given, visited Los Angeles yesterday and ascertained that a number of the crack bicycle riders of that city will participate in the races. The first race of a mile will be limited to riders of the 2:35 class. The second race of two miles will be an open handicap event.

The sports at the park will begin promptly at 11 o'clock a.m. and will continue out the day.

MORE LEMONS NEEDED.

The following communication was received yesterday from R. H. Shoemaker, Jr., a son of Dr. Shoemaker of this city and a gentleman who has bad an extended and a gentleman who has bad an extended and practical experience in matters pertaining to the fruit growing industries of this section of the country:

I would like to make a few remarks regarding "Information Wanted," which I read in your issue of today. It is my opinion that there are not enough lemons grown within a radius of ten miles of Pasadena to warrant a man with push, energy or capital to start out, properly equipped, to buy and cure lemons for shipment East, or even to San Francisco, or to the far to buy and cure lemons for shipment East, or even to San Francisco, or to the far Northwest, the two latter places being the only districts of any account that our lem ons are shipped to.

There are too many peddlers from Los Angeles and small dealers in your own vicinity who would be likely to run the price of good fruit up too high for what very few lemons there are around Pasadena few lemons there are around Pasadena today, to warrant any one putting up a proper curing-house. Lemons for curing have to be picked, therefore contracted for and bought in the fall, and they will not be ready for shipment or find a good market up: It the following summer: consequently, requiring a large amount of capital to conduct such an enterprise, and the four or five lemon-growers around Pasadena can better afford to carry over their own crop than any one can put up a proper curing-house and pay the price these few growers are in the habit of getting for their fruit, and at the end of the deal have anything left over for their own expense, not to say time.

A very pleasant card party was held last time.

It has been my experience that the average grower is after the "stuff" (because he needs it.) and should he be offered say only 5 or 10 cents per box more by a speculator (who expects to cure the lemons on his barn foor.) than by a party who is in the business and has a good gayring-house and knows something about shrinkage, decay and other logses and expenses, and also knows the markets and possible prices, why, the fruit will be sold to the speculator every time, notwithstanding the fact that the regular dealer is conducting an expense in the control of the site itor the site enterprise worthy of support, therefore compelling him to let his curing-house lie empty for a season, on account of the scarcity of lemons in your vicinity, which will be the case for the next ten years unless many small orchards are planted very soon, for the large growers will want to cure their own fruit. Get your lemons first, then there will be time to put up your curing-house. Pasadena is much better suited for lemons than oranges, and there ought to be a large acreage planted every year, but there will not be until you get more water and reduce the price of acreage in your vicinity.

The Bright Puture in Store for the Town of Anaheim.

What the Establishment of the Mammoth Beet Sugar Factory is Expected to Accomplish-General News

There was considerable talk in this city esterday over the bright future in store or Anaheim, made so by the successful teps taken toward the establishment of a steps taken toward the establishment of a mammoth beet-sugar establishment within a mile or two of the oldest, and one of the most fertile localities in Orange county. Praise of the enterprise manifested by the people of Anaheim was heard on every hand and many predictions were made as to the probable benefit to be derived by that locality from the establishment of so imhand and many predictions were made as to the probable benefit to be derived by that locality from the establishment of so important an enterprise. It was generally conceded that the establishment of the factory would add materially to the prosperity of Anaheim in particular, and the county in general; that it would add several hundred families to the northern end of the county; that it would add additional railroad facilities to Anaheim by the construction of a railroad to and through Garden Grove, Westminster and to some point on the beach near Anaheim Landing; that it would attract attention to Anaheim, and would draw the lion's share of trade to the enterprising merchants of the town from all outlying districts, and that in time the queen colony would certainly become the commercial center of Orange county.

With a railroad to Garden Grove and Westminister, and the upper portion of the county rapidly settling up, Anaheim, with its mammoth sugar factory, not only bids fair to become the commercial center of Orange county, but at no distang day to be the county-seat of Orange county.

Such were the expressions made yesterday by a number of gentlemen who had been closely watching the development of the county for the past two years. The northern part of Orange county is booming, and, no mistake, and residents of the southern half of the county will probably awake to'a realization of the fact within the next few years.

More Money Needed-Notes Concerning Coming and Going - Local Notes and Personals.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon at the Carlton parlors to take definite action on the matter of the proposed painting for the World's Fair. The attendance was not as large as it should have been, but it was composed mainly of generous, public spirited citizens, who manifested their faith in the project by contributing liberally to the subscription list. As a result, half of the money needed for the painting is subscribed, the space is engaged and Pasadena is assured of having a great adveradena is assured of having a great adver-

H. H. Gross of Chicago, a gentlemen of national reputation, to whom the State Board of Commissioners delegated supreme control of the three paintings, was present and explained more fully the details of the matter. The dimensions of the painting will be 18x30 feet and it will cost $1500. It did not take those present long to manifest their approval of the scheme, as is evened by the following subscriptions, which were promptly made: tisement at the Columbian Exposition.

It is only right in this connection to give to W. H. Hill the credit that is justly his due. For six months past Mr. Hill has been untring in his efforts to interest people in this project that has ended so auspiciously, and the success that has been attained is largely due to this gentleman's individual and unselfish efforts in the matter, which is certain to prove of vast benefit to the entire community.

THE COMING TOURNAMENT.
As the time for holding the Tournament Roses approaches, interest in the affair is becoming more general. Everybody is taking a hand in getting things in readiness for the gala occasion, and clear weather on Monday is all that is necessary to insure for Pasadena the greatest fête day in her history.

Capt. Dunham will pliot a merry party from the La Cañada Valley in a profusely decorated wagon, drawn by six horses. The Carlton guests will be out in another six-in-hand, and it is certain that they will not be behind in the decorations. Thad Lowe has engaged Mr. Morgan's new tally-ho, which will be drawn by four spanking steeds, resplendent in brand-new trappings. MORE LEMONS NEEDED.

The following communication was received yesterday from R. H. Shoemaker Jr., a son of Dr. Shoemaker of this city

Jr., a son of Dr. Shoemaker of this city, and a gentleman who has had an extended and practical experience in matters pertaining to the fruit growing industries of this section of the country:

I would like to make a few remarks regarding "Information Wanted," which I read in your issue of today. It is my opinion that there are not enough lemons grown within a radius of ten miles of Pasadena to warrant a man with push energy.

fon that there are not enough lemons grown within a radius of ten miles of Pasadena to warrant a man with push, energy or capital to start out, properly equipped, to buy and cure lemons for shipment East, or even to San Francisco, or to the far Northwest, the two latter places being the only districts of any account that our lemons are shipped to.

There are too many peddlers from Los Angeles and small dealers in your own vicinity who would be likely to run the price of good fruit up too high for what very few lemons there are around Pasadena today, to warrant any one putting up a proper curing-house. Lemons for curing have to be picked, therefore contracted for and bought in the fall, and they will not be ready for shipment or find a good market until the following summer: consequently, requiring a large amount of capital to conduct such an enterprise, and the four or five lemon-growers around Pasadena can better afford to carry over their own crop than any one can put up a proper curing-house and pay the price these few growers are in the habit of getting for their fruit, and at the end of the deal have anything left over for their own expense, not to say time.

It has been my experience that the averenterprise worthy of support, therefore compelling him to let his curing-house lie empty for a season, on account of the scarcity of lemons in your vicinity, which will be the case for the next ten years unless many small orchards are planted very soon, for the large growers will want to cure their own fruit. Get your lemons first, then there will be time to put up your curing-house. Pasadena is much better suited for lemons than oranges, and there ought to be a large acreage planted every year, but there will not be until you get more water and reduce the price of acreage in your vicinity.

SANTA ANA.

There was considerable talk in this city yesterday over the bright future in store for Anahelm, made so by the successful steps taken toward the establishment of a mammoth beet-sugar establishment within a mile or two of the oldest, and one of the most fertile localities in Orange county. in general; that it would add several nundered families to the northern end of the county; that it would add additional railroad facilities to Anaheim by the construction of a railroad to and through Garden Grove, Westminster and to some point on the beach pear Anaheim Landing; that it would attract attention to Anaheim, and would draw the llon's share of trade to the enterprising merchants of the town from all outlying districts, and that in time the queen colony would certainly become the commercial center of Orange county.

With a railroad to Garden Grove and Westminister, and the upper portion of the county rapidly settling up, Anaheim, with its mammoth sugar factory, not only bids fair to become the commercial center of Orange county, but at no distant day to be the county-seat of Orange county.

Such were the expressions made yesterday by a number of, gentlemen who had been closely watching the development of the county for the past two years. The northern part of Orange county will probably awake to a realization of the fact within the next few-years.

Ramors of a Brosh With the Fleeing Apaches. The following Associated Press dispatch was received from Washington yesterday afternoon:

Adjt.-Gen. Williams has received a telegram from Gen. McCook at Los Angeles saying that Capt. Myers, of the Eleventh Infantry, had a brost with Kld's band of renegade Indians yesterday near San Carios Ariz., but the renegades escaped in the darkness. Four detachments of troops are on Kld's trail.

The Choo Fung Investigation

The grand jury has about concluded the investigation of the Choo Fong abduction case, and the result will be known in a few days. It is said that some very damaging testimony was brought out, and when the facts become public they will create a sensation. It is rumored that the white man who assisted the Chinaman in carrying off the girl has made a full statement, and given the names of all the parties implicated, as well as the place where the paisoner was detained. District Attorney McLachlan will try to have all of the men indicted. There is one weak spot in the case, and that is the fact that the woman was not removed from the State, but it is believed that a statute can be found to cover the case

SOME WEDDINGS.

The Oakland Tribune of December 24 contains an elaborate account of the marriage of Edward S. Shattuck of this city to Miss Grace C. Stoddart of Oak-land. The marriage took place at the beautiful home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. J. Stoddart, corner of Fifteenth and Clay streets. A list of some five hundred guests is published, and the following account of the ceremonies:

"The large rooms were beautifully decorated with greens and holly berries. In each corner stood a bundle of greens amboo, the cornices were draped with garlands of spruce and holly berries, in the tall mantel were gracefully entwined ivy and hothouse ferns, and the doorways were arched with netting, in which were artistically hung ivy and which were artistically hung ivy and bridesmaid, while David Stoddart acted as the groom's best man.

The bride was becomingly attired in a gown of white corded silk, trimmed with pearls. She wore a full veil surmounted by orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of hyacinths. The bridesmaid was robed in plnk silk with court train, and trimmed with point lace. She carried a bouquet of La France roses. France roses.

The guests were then invited into the banquet-room, where the "bride's supper" awaited them. The bride's table in the first dining-room was a dream of loyeliness. Service was laid for fourteen. At each plate was a dainty souvenir bouttonniere of La France roses and maiden hair. Pink candelabra shed a soft luster upon the scene, causing costly jewels to flash. Rev. Dr. McLean made an appropriate speech during the evening, in which he wished the bride long life and happiness and a ple asant journey. The guests were then invited into the

A Matter of Thought.

Do you think there is any sense of you paying twice for shoes as you need to? You certainly would object paying twice as much rent as does your neighbor for a similar dwelling. You would seriously object paving twice as much for your butter, eggs and sugar, and yet you go on day after day paying twice as much for your dry goods, your crockery, your hats and shoes as you would if you traded at our establishment. While dry goods, crockery, hats and shoes are articles that you are not posted on like groceries and sugar, whose market report you can read in every issue of the daily papers; yet we see no reason why you should go on blindly and pay more for your wares than they are worth. We do not dwell on this for the mere fact of talking, but to tell you that no other house does business on so close a margin as we do. While it has gotten so that some competitors upon hearing our prices mark theirs down so as not to lose trade, yet there are thousands of articles which escape their pruning knife. We have customers who for ten years have exclusively traded with us. We refer to them as to our way of doing business. Everything as straight as a string, honest and honorable, true and tried. For the coming year we want to add you to the list of our constant customers, and trust you will remember it, as it will abound to your benefit and prove a valuable matter of thought,
